PROPOSALS:

I. Proposals for printing by Subscription in Three Volumes in Folio, the Religious Customs and Ceremonies of all Nations; represented in above a hundred Folio Copper Plates, design'd by the famous Picart; with an historical Explication thereof; their particular Sentiments, and several curious Dissertations. The whole extracted from the most celebrated Authors: Translated from the French, and alter'd in several Places where it was necessary. Proposals may be had, and Subscriptions taken in, and the Cuts to be seen at Mr. Meadows and Mr. Symons in Cornhill; Mess. Osborne and Longman in Pater-noster-row, Mr. Browne Temple-bar.

II. Now in the Press, and will very speedily be publish'd by Subscription, A Treatise of Navigation: Wherein is demonstrated, that none of the Writers upon that Subject have rightly understood the Nature of Departure; which is one great Cause of the Uncertainty of Mariners Reckoning. The Use of Mercator's Chart made as easy as that of the plain Chart. Of Currents, and how to find them several Ways. Of plying to Windward in Currents, &c. Improvements made in the Sea Quadrant, Fore-Staff, and in the common Sea-Compass, and an Error in the Quadrant detected. A new Azimuth Compass, which is so contrived as to be kept from being any wise disturbed by the Motion of the Ship. A new Method for keeping a Journal, whereby any Error that may be committed, during the whole Voyage may be easily discover'd. By Joseph Harris, Teacher of the Mathematicks, at the Two Civet-Cats, the Corner of Crane-Court in Fleet-street, London. A more particular Account of this Book is given in the Proposals, which may be had of the Author, at the Place aforesaid; Mr. J. Senex, at the Globe, Mr. T. Wright, at the Orrery and Globe in Fleetstreet; Mr. F. Fayram, Bookseller at the Royal-Exchange; and Mr. J. Styles, Stationer in King-street, near Guild-hall: At which Places Subscriptions are taken in.
